

Biography:

DAVID JEFFRIES

DIRECTOR OF TECHNOLOGY

vCard

David Jeffries is the Director of Technology for GlassRatner. He is responsible for the overall planning, organizing, and execution of all IT functions at the firm. This includes directing all IT operations to meet company requirements as well as the support and maintenance of existing applications and development of new technical solutions. Prior to joining GlassRatner in 2009, he was the Network Engineer for a wholesale trade organization in Atlanta, GA. In this position, he was responsible for implementing, maintaining, and supporting communication networks within the company. David is a member of IEEE. He comes to GlassRatner with excellent troubleshooting skills and years of education and experience in Information Technology.

David graduated from the University of DeVry with a B.S. in Technical Management. He earned his Master's degree from Keller Graduate School with a major in Network and Communications Management.